Lac du Dordu: The adjoining Lake has a small beach, lake side bar , Two children's play areas and a selection of wild fowl. It is also well stocked with carp, tench, pike, wild trout amongst others and can be fished via a daily or weekly permit. None motorised vassal can be used on the lake.

Towns & Villages: The local village, with restaurants , bars and a boulangerie is a 15 minute lake side stroll away. In true French tradition, Brittany is blessed with many delightful towns & villages - from Vannes in the south with its medieval centre & cathedral, to Pont Aven, the favoured haunt of the painter, Paul Gauvain, to the walled city of St Malo in the north, you are sure to stumble upon interesting places to visit at every turn Langoelan where nature meets activity: The whole of the area abounds in nature, wildlife & history, whilst also offering many activities for the holidaymaker. Locally we can offer Horse riding, Golf, Fishing, Bird watching, Cycling, organised rock climbing and abseiling. Not too far away there is quad biking, water parks with flumes, zoos, aquariums.

Lac Guerledan: The largest lake in Brittany with sandy beaches, boat hire, water skiing, motor boats & delightful wooded walks, bars, cafes is a short car drive away.

Nantes-Brest canal: Situated within a few km of various sections of the canal, offering beautiful walks, cycling & canoeing.

Golfe de Morbihan: With its own micro-climate, the gulf is an incredible nature reserve, offering safe-haven to many migrating birds. With a vast number of islands reached by boat, this area is a must for visiting guests.

Beaches: Both north & south coasts are within easy reach and offer superb sandy beaches, working fishing ports & sailing activities.

Of Saints, Martyrs & Mystery: Vastly rich in history, Brittany boasts a huge number of chapels, churches & castles. In addition there are megalithic stone emplacements, boulder strewn ravines and forbidden forests among them, Broceliande, the alleged site of Merlin's tomb.
